

Chamber Music America established the CMAcclaim Award to bring national recognition to an individual, ensemble, or organization whose work has had a significant impact on a local or regional community, and does not normally receive national media attention. CMA defines chamber music as music for small ensembles, between 2 and 10 performers, with one musician per part, generally without a conductor. CMA's definition comprises the many different styles of chamber music represented by CMA's membership.

Any CMA member may make a nomination for the CMAcclaim Award, but the nominee need not be a CMA member. Self-nominations or nominations by staff or Board members of the organization to be nominated are not eligible.

Once you begin the form, it must be completed in its entirety.

The nomination deadline is October 20, 2017.
